BOY SCOUTS LEADERS TO MEET AT DINNER

Gathering to Be Held at Sunset Canyon Country Club Tonight

The Sunset Canyon Country club will be the scene tonight of the first annual meeting of the troop leaders' roundtable, preceded by a complimentary dinner to scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters.

"Our plans for the dinner and meeting tonight are all completed," said M. F. Gilmer, chairman of the program committee, this morning. "We expect a record attendance of leaders."

Rev. Thomas F. Allen, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Burbank, will pronounce the invocation. A. R. Eastman, president of the Verdugo Hills district council, will extend greetings. Frank C. Ayars, 315 North Orange avenue, will be toastmaster.

To Make Talks

Short speeches will be made as follows: "The Scoutmaster's Job As I See It," Leonard F. Collins, Burbank; "The Influence of the Scoutmaster," Charles L. Chandler, scout commissioner; "One Minute in Haines Canyon," M. E. Hill, Tujunga; "One Minute in the Catalina Camp," C. W. Angier, La Crescenta; "One Minute in the Court of Honor," William C. Wattles, chairman of the district court of honor; "One Minute in the Troop Leaders' Roundtable Meeting," H. Ben Robinson; "One Minute in a Scout Camp," Merritt F. Filmer, Monte Vista; "One Minute in the Patrol Leaders' Training Course," E. B. Thomas, Burbank; "The Best Scout Turn I know," Dr. E. H. Wilson, Burbank; "The Best Scout Song I Know," Frank W. Henry; "The Best Scout Stunt I Know," Ray B. Sanders, Eagle Rock; "One Minute as a Pioneer Scout Leader," Robert N. Taylor; "The Pay of the Scoutmaster," Dennis H. Stovall, Sierra Madre. Roundtable officers will be elected at the close of the meeting.

Order Observers To Back Chester Group

LAUSANE, April 23.—Following the traditional American policy and support any legitimate American enterprise" was the tenor of the instructions received today by the American observers in the Near East peace conference. They refer to the Chester concessions in Turkey, but the observers said the question would not be discussed unless the French introduced it.

Acting Prohibition Director Suspended

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23.—Roscoe Andrews, acting prohibition director at Chicago, was suspended today by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes pending an investigation of the disposition of the stocks of the Grommes Ulrich company, wholesale liquor dealers. W. D. Moss, former director at Newark, N. J., was named acting director for Illinois.

LATEST NEWS

TWO KILLED IN CRASH OF SEAPLANE

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Two naval fliers were killed when a naval seaplane crashed into the water near Willoughby Point, off the Virginia coast, about 11:30 o'clock today, according to advices to the navy department this morning. The victims of the crash were Ensign Gordon Gunther of the naval reserve force, whose home address is Cambridge, Mass., and Chief Machinist's Mate W. L. Hill, whose wife resides at Ocean View, Va.

FURTHERS PRINCIPLE OF OPEN DOOR

LAUSANE, April 23.—"The only purpose of American participation in the Near East peace conference is to defend American citizens' interests and further the principle of the open door," said Joseph C. Crew, American minister to Switzerland and head of the American delegation of observers at the formal session of the parley this afternoon.

ASKS ARREST OF CLARA'S COMPANION

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—Governor Richardson today wired Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes asking the arrest of Jesse Carson, companion of the woman in custody in Honduras on suspicion of being Mrs. Clara Phillips, escaped hammer murderer. The governor's telegram stated that Carson is wanted for assisting Mrs. Phillips to escape and also on a charge of arson.

DECLARES HIGH OFFICIALS INVOLVED

CHICAGO, April 23.—Two high officials of the department of justice at Washington are involved in operations of a "shake-down liquor ring," the operations of which extend from coast to coast, it was declared here today by Edward M. Solomon, whose affidavit filed at Washington was said to have resulted in suspension of Roscoe Andrews, prohibition director in Chicago, today. Solomon said he had been offered the place of prohibition director in Illinois if he would pay $50,000 to officials in Washington.

Depew, Aged 89, Living Proof Of 'Sensible' Life

NEW YORK, April 23.—Chauncey Depew, America's youngest old man, today celebrated his 89th birthday. A good wife, a sensible diet and not too much of it, cheerfulness and work have carried him through nearly nine decades of American life and leave him today in the nineties, vigorous, clear-eyed and cheerful as ever and still at work as chairman of the board of the New York Central railroad.

"I have just been sensible," he said. "No fads, no sermons, no monkey glands—no golf."

Looking back over nearly seventy years of active public life, Depew declared "Gladstone was the greatest man the world produced during the span of his life."

Abraham Lincoln, he called the greatest American, and Harriet Beecher Stowe the greatest American woman. He knew them all intimately.

Recalling his days in the United States senate, he deplored the "present slump in politics" with its lack of leadership.

"There are none today to fill the places of James G. Blaine, Thomas Platt or Thurlow Weed," he said. "Without strong leadership, there cannot be wise legislation."

GOVERNOR NEEDS JUST TWO VOTES

M'Cabe Political Machine Doing All Possible to Block Budget Bill

By GIL A. COWAN

Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—Will Governor Richardson be able to whip two votes into line today for his budget bill now pending before the assembly? That is the question of the hour, as the legislature goes into session this noon. It is known that every influence has been brought to bear in the bitterest battle of politics seen in California, to sway the tide both ways.

Assemblyman Dozier personally appealed to the governor last week to resort to sterner methods than silent prayer if he was to hold against the M'Cabe machine, which is making its final stand this session. While its back is broken, life still lingers—and where there is life there is hope!

Even Supervisor Henry W. Wright of Los Angeles has hope. He looks to see another paper established in Los Angeles, to fight the losing fight against the new regime, it is reported.

It is easy to predict that the senate, with the assembly concurring, will dump no less than $2,000,000 additional appropriations on the governor's desk for vetoes to embarrass the chief executive. All of which will avail nothing.

BICYCLE STOLEN

Donald McMaster of 563 South Adams street reports the theft of a red Pierce bicycle.

LEG BROKEN AS RESULT OF CYCLE CRASH

Burbank Man Is Hit By Motorcycle Ridden By Warren Knight

A broken left leg was received about 4 p. m. Saturday by Manuel Castaneda of Burbank, who was crossing from the west to the east side of Central avenue, near Broadway, when he was struck by a motorcycle ridden by Warren Knight of 557 West Harvard street. He was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

"Mr. Castaneda stepped into the street in front of my machine," asserted Mr. Knight, who had been coming west on Broadway and turned to go south on Central avenue. "On seeing me, he started to dodge back and forth."

Before starting to cross the street, Mr. Castaneda had been standing on the west curb of Central avenue talking with George Torres of Burbank.

Other Accidents

Several other collisions occurred during the week-end:

Mrs. J. C. Campbell, of 1158 West Forty-second street, Los Angeles, was driving across Brand boulevard and Lomita avenue about 3:30 yesterday afternoon. Her car was struck by another machine. One of its rear fenders was damaged.

Edward E. Hatch of 428 Olive avenue, Los Angeles, was driving on San Fernando road about 4:30 yesterday afternoon. His car was crowded off the road by a machine piloted by C. Gonzalez of Wellington, who, in Mr. Hatch's opinion was intoxicated. He was accompanied by his father, C. Gonzalez, and both were arrested near Broadway by Officer Ralph Baugh. They spent last night in a cell at Fire Station No. 1.

LA FOLLETTE TO REVEAL PROGRAM

Progressive Leader Plans Tour to Explain Aims in Next Congress

By KENNETH W. CLARK

For International News Service

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, in an extended speaking tour which will take him from Chicago through the politically disturbed farming regions of the west to the Pacific early this summer, will lay before the nation policies and principles to be pressed by the "progressive bloc" in the next congress.

Announcement of the comprehensive plans of the journey was made for the first time by La Follette here today. He made it quite plain, however, that this trip could not be construed as an indication he would enter the presidential race in 1924, or as the initial step in the formation of a third party. Neither, he said, is being contemplated now.

On Harding's Trail
Perhaps it is only a coincidence, but the fiery Wisconsin progressive plans to cover practically the same territory, at practically the identical time, that President Harding contemplates on his swing through the west to Alaska. Under present arrangements both will leave Washington about mid-June. La Follette possibly will be a machine hater and the president a machine lover.

Much significance is attached in national political headquarters here to La Follette's tour. Previously it had been reported he would go to Europe this summer to obtain a personal view of actual conditions on the continent.

As leader of the "progressive bloc" formed in congress last December, La Follette will command, because of the almost deadlocked voting strength of the old line parties, a powerful following on Capitol hill.

Daugherty Scored By Construction Chief

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—A bitter arraignment of Attorney General Daugherty for his conduct of war fraud cases, charging use of the department of justice for political purposes, was made here today by General P. C. Marshall, Jr., of Washington, D. C., who was chief of the construction division of the war department during the world war. Marshall spoke before a business men's club.

"After five years and following investigations and preparations which have cost the government hundreds of thousands of dollars, the attorney-general has the unmitigated effrontery to plead unpreparedness in cases in which he is accusing contractors of inefficiency for having built whole cities in ninety days," declared General Marshall.

HARDING TO START WAR ON COURT CRITICS

President Plans to Fight Those Opposing World Justice Project

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

For International News Service

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The policy of silence which President Harding and chief cabinet aides have observed in the face of savage Republican attacks on the world court proposal will be abandoned this week and the administration will reply to its critics.

Tomorrow the president will deliver his first formal address in many weeks. It will be made before a convention of newspaper publishers in New York. Friday, Secretary of State Hughes will deliver a prepared address before the American Society of International Law. These addresses may be regarded, it was said in administration quarters, as the opening gun in the world court fight which now seems certain to hold down the political boards during the approaching summer.

Position Unchanged
The speeches of both the president and the secretary of state will be directed principally to members of their party who have not hesitated to condemn in vigorous fashion the Harding-Hughes international program. Those Republican irreconcilables who have publicly expressed their fear that entering the league court means eventually entering the league of nations itself through the "back door" will be assured by Mr. Harding that his position with regard to the league is unchanged. The line of division between the league and the league court will be sharply marked out and emphasized.

President Harding spent part of Sunday and today working on the address he will deliver to the publishers. The president will leave Washington at midnight, arriving in New York early Tuesday morning. He will speak at noon, attend a ball game in the afternoon, a theatre tomorrow night and then return immediately to Washington, arriving early Wednesday morning.

TURKISH CONCESSIONS MAY HALT PEACE TALK

LAUSANE, April 23.—A quarrel over the oil and railway concessions granted by the Turks to the Ottoman-American development company, the Chester group, threatened to put serious obstacles in the path of Near East peace talks.

The Lausanne conference was resumed today. This is a continuation of the Near East peace deliberations that were broken off in January.

CITY'S BUSINESS REGION IS MENACED BY FLAMES

OAKLAND, Calif., April 23.—Fire, which, for a time threatened widespread destruction in the downtown district, broke out early today in the Majestic building, and was only put out after an hour's fight, during which all downtown traffic was tied up. The Majestic dance hall, Oakland's chiropractic college, and the Oakland market are located in the structure and suffered loss estimated at $75,000.

COOKS LEAD IN LIST OF TRADES IN STATE PRISON

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—The rotund cook who has dedicated his life to preparing prison meals that will satisfy the epicurean whims of man, stands a greater chance of spending a term behind prison bars than any of his associates in other trades or professions, according to prison statistics filed with Governor Richardson by Warden J. A. Johnston of San Quentin prison.

The stupendous task of attempting to satisfy the "physical man" proves too great for many cases, the records show, and cooks as a class are therefore less accountable for their actions than other workers.

Of 1501 persons committed to San Quentin prison during the past year, 107 were cooks. They led the list by a wide margin, machinists coming second with a total of fifty-eight. Fifty-six clerks were among the new prisoners, and fifty automobile mechanics. Forty-nine farmers became convicts during the year and an equal number of chauffeurs joined the prison settlement.

ROTARIANS HELP IN BIG PARADE

President Roy L. Kent In Statement Tells About Event On Friday

"To those who are sentimental, a day or more given over to the dedication, glorification and recreation of boys is a pleasing notion," says President Roy L. Kent of the Glendale Rotary club, which is sponsoring the Boys' Week Parade, this Friday afternoon, April 27, "but to those who have made a study of boys and who will allow sheer wisdom to mingle with their sentiments, Boys' Week means more than that. It means that men have discovered it is useless to train an old vine, whose tendrils have knotted themselves around the nearest support, but that it is decidedly worth while to plant a sapling and see that the young vines shall train themselves over it in the right way."

Definite Part
So it is with these thoughts in mind that the Rotary club of Glendale is to have a definite part in this International Boys' Week, through the putting on of what we shall call a "Boys' Loyalty parade." All the schools in this city will close at 2:20 on Friday afternoon, April 27, and all boys from the fourth grade up will be taken to a central point and there formed into one big parade in school sections.

"The spirit of rivalry is going to be a factor on this day, to the extent that the schools will vie with one another in attendance and also in presenting the most pleasing appearance and the school in each of the three divisions, (namely, the high school group, the intermediate group, and the grammar school group) that is most successful in this respect, will receive a prize from the Rotary club."

"International Boys' Week started with Boys' week in 1920 in New York and Chicago; Kansas City, Baltimore and Newark in 1921. The movement to give publicity to, and focus the attention of the public on the boy and his problems, took on an international aspect in 1922. And in 1922 193 cities in the United States, Canada, Newfoundland, the British Isles and Central America saw the wonderful possibilities in the movement and carried out the program."

"The Boys' Week movement has now assumed an international influence, and wherever a Rotary club exists today, you will find Rotarians preparing for a boys' week, or a particular boys' day program, at this time, Boys' Week having proved to be a remarkably successful method of awakening men and women to their responsibilities toward boys and their opportunities with them."

Elks Will Vote On 18 New Candidates

Glendale Elks are to gather at 8 o'clock tonight at the clubhouse on East Colorado street for a regular session. According to plans there will be balloting on eight new candidates.

After the meeting a moving picture will probably be shown.

Texas Man Now Has Record In Non-Stop Dance

DALLAS, Tex., April 23.—Non-stop dancing laurels were returned to Texas today when R. J. Newman established a new record for continuous dancing, 107 hours and 20 minutes. He left the floor at 3:25 o'clock this morning. He started at 4:45 p. m. on Wednesday with five other contestants, none of whom were able to maintain the pace.

Newman took three minutes off each hour. During these rest periods he was massaged like a prize fighter and went back on the floor with renewed "pep."

LENINE RECEIVES BIRTHDAY NOTES

Soviet Leader, Age 53, Gets Many Messages; Insists On Hearing Reports

By ADELE PARKER

For International News Service

MOSCOW, April 23.—Nicolai Lenine's temperature has risen to 100.04, but his speech and the movement of his right arm and right leg are improving, said a bulletin from the attending physicians today. Variations of temperature caused some general weakness.

Lenine has received many messages on the occasion of his 53rd birthday on Sunday. Despite his illness Lenine has insisted upon hearing brief reports of the proceedings in the all-Russian communist congress.

Tell of Execution

Soviet officials today called attention to reports printed in the United States that Rev. Father Butkiewicz, Roman Catholic vicar-general, who was executed at Moscow on March 21, was subjected to indignity while in prison. Officials said these reports were absolutely untrue. The death of the prelate was thus described: "The condemned man faced a firing squad and died bravely without audible prayer. There was no clergyman present to administer spiritual consolation, although this was permitted if Butkiewicz desired it."

The trial of the Most Rev. Father Tikhon, patriarch of the Orthodox church, on charges of treason and conspiracy is scheduled to begin tomorrow before the same tribunal that imposed the death sentence upon Father Butkiewicz.

FRAUD IS CHARGED

BOSTON, April 23.—The indictment of 18 prominent men, including a former state treasurer, in connection with the Boston and Montana Mining corporation, became known today. Each is indicted on four counts for conspiracy to defraud.

SHERIFF TO BE OUSTED IN DEATH INQUIRY

Governor Will Act Result of Facts Brought Out By Investigation

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 23.—Immediate removal of Sheriff J. R. Jones of Leon county for malfeasance in office in connection with the death of Martin Tabert of North Dakota, will be recommended before nightfall by Governor Hardee, it was learned officially this afternoon.

The recommendation will be made in a formal communication to President Turnbull of the Florida state senate and action is expected as soon as the letter is received. The governor has not indicated what action he will take in the case of Judge B. F. Willis.

Buried by Prisoners

Arthur Johnson, negro convict and camp cook at the Putnam Lumber company's prison camp at Clara at the time Tabert died there while serving a sentence, testified before the joint legislative committee investigating "the arrest, conviction, sentence and death of Martin Tabert," that the body of Tabert was prepared for burial by himself and other negro convicts; was loaded on a wagon in a coffin provided by the lumber company and taken at night by trustees miles from camp and buried in a water-soaked hole in the woods.

There were present at the burial, Johnson swore, only himself, the driver of the wagon and the two grave diggers, all negro prisoners in the Putnam camp. There was no preacher, no white man, no white woman, to say a word, offer a prayer or shed a tear as the body was lowered into the pit.

Local Realtors Aid On District Program

The all-day council of Realty Boards, held at the Hotel Virginia, Long Beach, Saturday, April 21, was well attended by members from the sixth, seventh and eighth vice-presidential districts of the California Real Estate association, reports Miss Winifred Traver, office secretary of the Glendale Realty Board, who was one of the local delegation present.

Members of the Glendale board who appeared on the program were Charles B. Guthrie, state director of the Glendale board; E. P. Hayward, secretary, and Miss Winifred Traver, office secretary. The meeting was held in honor of Frasier O. Reed, president of the California Real Estate association, and was under the management of Henry P. Barbour, vice-president of the association.

The program was followed by a ride around the city of Long Beach, and by a banquet and dance at night.

Early Morning Quake Shakes Two Counties

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., April 23.—A distinct tremor was felt throughout San Bernardino and Riverside counties early today. The greatest shock was felt at Riverside and Patton shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. The exact time was set at between 12:20 and 1:20 a. m. Dishes were reported to have been broken and a man shaken from a chair at Riverside, while at Patton it was said to have been with such force as to waken light sleepers.

Three Murderers In Daring Prison Break

JOIET, Ill., April 23.—Three convicts, serving life terms for murder, sawed their way to freedom today from the prison hospital here. The trio, quartered on the third floor, lowered themselves by a rope to the yard, and then scaled the outer wall of the prison, where confederates were believed to have had a motor car waiting.

EXPECT ARRESTS IN CLARA ESCAPE

Tiger Woman's Husband to Be Grilled in Inquiry, Also Rich Woman

LOS ANGELES, April 23.—Arrest of the person or persons who aided in the escape of Clara Phillips, "hammer murderer" from the county jail here last December 5, was expected today.

An entirely new and thorough investigation of her flight from the jail was started today by the sheriff's office, in view of the provisional arrest in Honduras of a woman believed to be Mrs. Phillips. Chief among those to be interrogated today in connection with the new probe of her flight will be Armour L. Phillips, the "tiger woman's" husband, who is now believed to have aided in her get-away and later sent her funds to New Orleans to flee into Mexico.

Prepare Papers

The papers for Mrs. Phillips' extradition from Honduras were also to be prepared today by the district attorney's office and forwarded to the attorney-general's office at Sacramento, where they will be signed by Governor Friend W. Richardson and then sent to the state department at Washington. Extradition papers will also be asked for Jesse Carson, it was learned, who was arrested by the Honduras officers as the traveling companion of Mrs. Phillips. He is wanted here on an arson charge. The trail of Mrs. Phillips was picked up when a search was being made for Carson.

A wealthy woman, prominent in philanthropic circles in Los Angeles will also be questioned in connection with Mrs. Phillips' daring flight, it was announced by Chief Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes.

Judge Ben Lindsey Will Speak Here

Judge "Ben" Lindsey of the Denver Juvenile Court will speak at assemblies commencing at 11 p. m. here, tomorrow morning at Glendale Union High School. Principal George U. Moyle stated this morning that reserved seats were on sale this afternoon for adults wishing to hear this address.

DIET IS AN INDIVIDUAL AS YOUR CLOTHES.
The average layman is influenced more in the selection of his diet by religious views than any other factor. Dieting is largely a religion, and fasting, a religious rite. Possibly no other department of life harbors more conflicting views and contrasting practices than dieting, and mostly they have the cart before the horse. Most dieticians are walking denials of the theories they advocate.
The big idea seems to be to find by theorizing and experimenting what food an abnormal digestive tract will make the least harm rather than to put that digestive tract into condition through renewing its supply of nerve energy and circulation so that it will digest anything that any other digestive tract will digest. Of course, there are times when a digestive tract must have rest or be given predigested or specially selected food
while Osteopathy rebuilds the operating mechanism so that it will digest any edible thing.

Saturday Night

Mr. and Mrs. Foy have sold the new home built by them last fall on Orangedale avenue and have returned to the home on East Piedmont avenue. They have made a number of improvements and also enlarged the house.
The firemen's hall held here on Saturday night was a decided success from every point of view. A large crowd was present and had much fun over the comic paper cards issued to every one at the gate.

Excellent refreshments were served by the Women's club, consisting of home-made cakes, two varieties of sandwiches, hot coffee and iced punch. The ginger ale in the punch was furnished gratis by Mr. Brown of Glendale and Green Hill products fame.
Four very fine cakes were raffled off toward the close of the evening, bringing in quite a sum toward the funds for equipping the fire truck.

Build New Home
Mr. Klatts' beautiful new home on Los Angeles boulevard, north of Michigan avenue, is nearing completion. The plans for it were drawn by Harry Peters, who also designed the quaint house on East Michigan.

The Burt family of West Honolulu is very happy over their beautiful new piano just received by them this week.

Dr. Grimes will complete the artistic Spanish stucco home he is building on Orangedale very soon.
Rev. Kellogg, the Presbyterian church reports an average Sunday school attendance which fills the little adobe church on Michigan boulevard. The new community church on West Montrose avenue is nearing completion.

Evening services, which had been discontinued for a short time
on account of the fire trouble
Rev. Kelso was suffering from,
have been resumed.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Honor Visitors
Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mordorf of Cincinnati, Ohio, who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vogel at 425 North Kenwood street, are being honored with a series of informal affairs during their visit.

Mrs. Vogel entertained twenty-one dinner guests in their honor one evening recently. Her other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cameron of Duluth, Minn.; Mrs. E.
Kroetsch, Mrs. G. Connell, Mrs.
C. Crosby, Alhambra; Mrs. Sanger
and Miss Sanger, Hollywood; and Mrs. E. Miencke, Mr. and Mrs.
Fred Doeblich, Howard Richter,
Miss Hilda May, Ray Frisbie,
Stanley and Ruth Vogel.

On Saturday night Mr. and Mrs.
C. P. Evans of 457 Palm drive honored Mr. and Mrs. Mordorf with a card party. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vogel, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Doeblich, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. W.
J. Siebert, Mr. and Mrs. George
Hynes, Howard Richter, Miss Hilda
May.

Another affair was an informal birthday party given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Doeblich of 321 Ethel street for their son Howard Richter.
They entertained Mr. and Mrs.
Mordorf, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vogel,
Mr. and Mrs. Cameron, Miss
Hilda May and Stanley and Ruth Vogel.

Change In Place
Owing to the number attending the evening section of the Bible study class of the First Methodist church, a change in place of meeting has been found necessary.
This evening (Monday), the class will meet at the home of Mrs. Sarah Thomas, 342 West
California avenue. The members are now studying the Book of Revelations under the leadership of Miss Lily Dale Wood.

The afternoon section of the class will meet at 2:30 o'clock at 115 North Louise street as usual. All those who are interested in this study are invited to join either section.

Class Meeting
The Berean Bible Class of the First Baptist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Alhach 115
East Elk street at 2 o'clock on Thursday, April 26. This will be the regular monthly business meeting. All members are requested to bring their own sewing.

Bible Study
The Bible Study section of the Tuesday Afternoon club will hold their next meeting at the clubhouse on Monday, April 30, under the leadership of Mrs. J. E. Lyon, curator of the section.
Mrs. Martin Johnson of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles will lecture on "Miracles in Stone."

Reciprocity Day
Club women from all parts of Los Angeles county will enjoy the hospitality of the Tuesday Afternoon club tomorrow when the annual Reciprocity Day will be observed.
Luncheon is to be served to the guests at a reception held at 2 o'clock followed by a club meeting at 2:30 o'clock.
During the afternoon music
will be given by Madame T. 4ra Wisniewska coloratura soprano, and William E. Hullinger, flutist.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Birthday Party
Adrienne Lawrence's thirteenth birthday was celebrated happily
Saturday, when her mother Mrs.
Henry J. Lawrence entertained at their home at 139 South Adams street with an afternoon party.

Cecil Brunner rose buds were used in profusion in decorating
for the affair.
The afternoon was spent very happily playing progressive croquet on the lawn. As the guests arrived they were numbered by little cards tied to a corsage bou-quet of rose buds, those receiving no numbers playing on one side and the odd numbers on the other side. Honors for the games went to Clara Roberts and Margaret Holman.

Late in the afternoon the guests were invited to the dining room where a birthday luncheon was served on an artistically arranged table.

A bowl of Cecil Brunner rose buds resting on a large mirror base occupied the center of the table. Place-cards fastened to pink baskets of candy by a single rose bud marked the places.
The birthday cake decorated with pink roses and thirteen candles was placed in front of the honoree's place. Pink shaded candles lighted the table. Snapping the bonbon favors and reading the fortune verses occasioned much merriment.

The invited guests were the girls of the B-S-I class of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school of which Adrienne is a member.
They were Margaret Hellman, Clara Roberts, Helen Horne, Su-sanne Smith, Constance Boynton, Jennie Rogers, Mildred Labau, Norma Pankake, Doris Cole and Adrienne's cousins, Donald, John,
William and Marjorie Virginia
Camphouse.

Mrs. Lawrence was assisted by her mother, Mrs. M. L. Sloan and her sister, Mrs. John Camphouse.

Informal Dance
Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Meeker of 1320 East Colorado boulevard were hosts at a pleasant affair
Friday night when they entertained with an informal dance at their daughter Miss Evelyn Meeker.

The rooms were decorated with spring flowers in attractive combinations. Light refreshments were served.

Invited guests were the Misses Irene Wilson, Gwendolyn Merrill, Jeannette Yarbrough, Jennifer Thrasher, Katherine Kitterling, Virginia Burris, Virginia Horne, Alice Lee, Patricia Chambers, Helen White, Betty Gode,

Meet at School
Juvenile Music club members met Saturday afternoon at the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school for a business session and program.

The program included: "The Life of Beethoven," given by Marguerite Chapell; piano solo, "Gay Little Dandelion" by Blanche Fossenden; piano solo, "Curious Story" by Helen Ruth Houle; piano solo, "Dance of the Brownies" by Leone Rockhold; piano solos, "Waves" and "Songsters on the Bough" by Marguerite Chapell; piano solo, "The Waltzing Doll" by Genevieve Merrick; piano solo "Melody in F" (Rubinstein) by Gordon Wattles; piano solo, "Little Butterfly" (Friml)
by Jane Thimm; singing by club
of "Star Spangled Banner."

Mrs. Rockhold will be hostess to the club at the next meeting.

Receives Tonight
To celebrate the brilliant success of the Fun Revue given last week by the Glendale Community Players, the director, Mrs. Nanno Woods will hold a reception tonight at her residence, 122 West
Milford street, at 8 o'clock.

There will be informal dancing,
music, and a general get-together. Mrs. Woods invites through the medium of the newspapers all friends and well-wishers to be present this evening, in addition to the cast of the Fun Revue, all members of the Community Players, the members of the orchestra, the electricians, members of the American Legion, newspaper representatives, and all who assisted in any way towards the success of the production.

Joint Birthday
A unique birthday celebration took place Saturday night at the home of Henry Johnston at 111
North Everett street, when Mr.
and Mrs. Johnston were dinner hostess, honoring Mr. Johnston's brother J. W. Johnston, and their son A. W. Johnston.

The unusual feature was that
J. W. Johnston, who was born April 20, 1846 in Oregon, Illinois, was 77 years old, and A. W. Johnston, who was born April 21, 1877
in Chicago, Illinois, was 46 years of age.

At the dinner table the cake
before J. W. Johnston bore J. W.
J. 77 and the one before A. W.
Johnston A. W. J. 46.

COMMENT That's All

It Pays to Act Crazy
Organized Blackmail Plot
Dodging Responsibilities
Hearst Adding to String

—By Gil A. Cowan—

TWO boys, handcuffed, walking back to back, are completing today a trip from the Davis agricultural farm to Berkeley by way of Sacramento, San Francisco and bay points.

They are advertising the annual picnic to be held by the university farm school April 23, but more interesting, they are accompanied by the 66-year-old member of the freshman class, who is just as much of a boy as the hikers.

Incidentally, they started off on their jaunt without money. By the time they left Sacramento on the first lap of their four-day journey they had accumulated a small fortune in pennies, nickels, dimes and dollars.

All of which proves it pays to act crazy.

You may expect to read articles in some of the yellow journals to the effect that the State of California will face a financial crisis as a result of the present budget fight which flamed forth again today with increased fury.

Of course, it is the purpose of the old machine members to embarrass Governor Richardson in every way possible; to dump appropriation bills on his desk when they know they will be vetoed, etc., and to tie up the state's finances for ninety days after the legislature adjourns and make the employees and officials embarrassed, yet with all of this there still remains another angle that the people should carefully consider.

An organized attempt to blackmail all members voting for Richardson's budget recommendations is being made through the columns of certain newspapers known for their socialistic tendencies. Already the preacher members have been assailed as enemies of labor and against humane legislation; others have been attacked individually on this, that and the other score, just to impugn their integrity and arouse class hatred.

In the current issue of the American Magazine "Bill" Storey, president of the Santa Fe lines, who started life as a stake driver for the Southern Pacific in California, declares many men deliberately choose smaller jobs.

"I have found," he says, "that quite a lot of people do not want to get on, in this sense; They are unwilling to accept the responsibilities that come with advancement."

"One of the great shocks of my boyhood occurred when I learned that the local telegrapher in the railroad station in our town had refused promotion to the dispatcher's office. He decided to stick to his key; and the reason he gave was that the added pay that dispatchers received was not sufficient to compensate him for the added responsibilities that he would have in higher office."

"To me his decision seemed almost criminal—that man died a telegrapher in a small station. He didn't get further because he did not want to, if you like, because he didn't dare to."

Storey's story holds a moral for us all. No one should shirk his duty. Nevertheless the fact remains all of us do to a degree. And it is only the driving force of "the boss," the executive personality, which makes most of us what we are. In turn, he is forced to greater achievement by the response given him by his co-workers.

It is stated on good authority that William Randolph Hearst is planning to own or control 100 newspapers by the 1924 election season.

There is an instance of a man who has made a success of business which, prior to his day, was considered financially unsound by bankers.

Old time printers will tell you that in the nineties, before the linotype was in use, it took only a shirt-tail full of type to start a newspaper.

Now a printing plant like The Glendale Evening News requires the latest labor saving devices, the most modern machinery and a personnel of experts in each and every department. You should visit the plant and verify this statement.

To revert to Mr. Hearst, however, it is told that he was given his real start in life, not from the fortune amassed by his father, but from a statement made at a banquet by the late Colonel Joseph Pulitzer, the blind journalist.

Pulitzer was presiding and turned to Mr. Hearst, saying, "The boy publisher from San Francisco will now tell New York how to conduct its newspapers," or words to that effect.

It was a stinging challenge and rebuke and most ironic sarcasm. Little could be said, but the reply was something like this:

"The boy publisher recognizes that New York now sets the standards for journalism, but I propose to come here and conduct a newspaper that will set new standards."

That very night, it is said, he began planning the purchase of a paper in the great metropolis and within ten years' time he had built a greater circulation than that ever dreamed of by Mr. Pulitzer.

All of which shows that the spurs applied to a western mustang will make him the buckingest broncho of the whole range.

Storey, Huntington, Hearst, Hiram Johnson and a score more could be named who have made the east respect what they say. And they are not the last of the race, either. They are advance agents, as it were.

TELLS NEED FOR SOUL'S CULTURE

Dr. Farred Explains Origin
Of Famed Teachers
In Orient Lands

That man is born a trinity, soul, mind, and body, which primarily are one, was discussed by Dr. Farred, Sunday morning from various angles. Because of living in present world conditions, many are prevented from knowing the real value of the soul. They do not take time, in the hurry of every-day life to take an account of themselves. It never occurs to them to give their soul an opportunity to do its best. They think of themselves only as a body and forget the greatest part of them—the soul.

He spoke of the careful attention given to soul culture in the Orient and cited the high regard shown great spiritual teachers in the east as the reason why all the world teachers have come to Oriental lands instead of the western world. He said in part:

"Jesus, the Christ, came to Palestine; Zoroaster came to the Persians; Buddha arose as the prophet and teacher of the Hindus, and Confucius as the messenger of God to the Chinese. Naturally the thought arises, apropos of the near coming of the Great World Teacher, anticipated by all peoples and all religions, will it be through a western race, or will He come through the dark Orientals, as has been the rule for so many ages?"

Service to Race
"You should live each day with the thought that you are a soul with all the value that can be placed upon it, for, as you improve yourself, you improve the body politic and help God in His great work. A long life is useless unless it is a life full of service to the race. What you think you are worth and the value of your goal determines what you will get from the world. Whatever you put into life is what you give and the response from the world is what you receive."

Next Sunday the subject for discussion by Dr. Farred will be "Friends and Enemies." This will be the last service in the Masonic Temple. The following Sunday, May 6th, the Church of Divine Realization will meet in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, 400 N. Central avenue, corner of Lexington drive. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the services.

SCIENCE and INVENTION By Arthur Budd

PHOTOGRAPHING THE UNIVERSE

Reflecting Telescope With Six-Foot Mirror. The Black Object Is a Counterweight

The most important recent advances in astronomical knowledge have come through the invention of the reflecting telescope, which is specially adapted for photographing the stars and other objects in the sky such as nebulae. The largest of these instruments of this type now existing was set up not long ago on the summit of Mount Wilson, near Pasadena, and the picture which it is doing nothing short of marvelous things among the most remarkable of the photographs representing escapes on the sky.

The image of a star or other object seen by a telescope of this type is thrown upon a disk-shaped mirror, by which it is reflected to a small tube that terminates in an eyepiece; the eye of the observer being replaced by a special-designed camera when desired. The main tube of the instrument at the bottom of which the mirror is set is of skeleton form for lightness, and is covered with a cylindrical envelope of canvas when observations are to be made.

It will thus be seen that a telescope of this type is altogether different from those with which we are familiar. It is an enormous affair, its construction requiring no little engineering skill, and a counterweight of solid steel weighing many tons is used to facilitate the moving of the great tube. So perfect is the equipping that a child can easily change the position of the telescope so as to make it point to any quarter of the heavens that may be desired.

The mirror of the Mount Wilson telescope is eight feet, four inches in diameter. Owing to its great size it is able to gather a proportionate amount of light. For the disk of glass has the form of a lens, and covers a ground with mathematical accuracy. The disk is silvered, but not on the back like an ordinary mirror. The silver is laid on top of the glass, so that the light is reflected directly from the bright metal. This certainly seems odd. One might imagine that the silver would soon tarnish, its usefulness as a reflecting surface being thereby spoiled. So it would; and for this reason the glass disk receives a fresh coat of it every two weeks, being lowered for the purpose into a tank of molten silver.

It would hardly be possible to make a glass lens of such size that would be free from flaws impairing its optical efficiency. Even if the thing could be done, the money cost would be enormous. This is the difficulty that has interfered with the making of ordinary telescopic lenses beyond a limited diameter. But there is no such limitation where reflecting telescopes are concerned, because a few flaws more or less in the glass do not matter. It is covered by the silver coat anyway and the main requirement of importance is that it shall be ground to a concavity that is perfectly true.

The mirror disk, being so greatly larger than the biggest glass lens of the ordinary kind, gathers into a focus a correspondingly greater number of light rays, and so it is proportionately more efficient for star-gazing purposes.

READJUSTING THE DRAG-LINK

Don't Let Steering Action Become Too Shaky

EXCESSIVE LOST MOTION at the steering wheel is quite likely to be caused by loss of adjustment due to wear at the drag link (steering connection rod). This rod usually has a ball-and-socket joint, where it attaches to the arm of the steering device and another where it is fastened to the linkage at one of the front wheels (usually the right). The sockets of these two joints are at the ends of the drag-link and are adjustable to grasp the balls provided upon the parts which they connect. By having someone turn the steering wheel to and fro, one can readily tell whether there is lost motion at these two points and if there is, the screw-plug which closes the end of the rod should be removed, the ball freed, all parts including the buffer-spring and ball-socket removed, cleaned and covered with fresh grease, replaced and the screw-plug put back and set up tightly enough so that there is no lost motion. The clamp or other device, which locks the screw plug, should be set up securely. These parts are usually covered with a leather boot, which should be cleaned and supplied with fresh grease before being put back. Careful adjustment of both ends of the drag-link should remove considerable lost motion and prevent annoying rattling, but if there is still looseness in the gear, it is probably occasioned by wear of the steering spindle pivot-pins or their bushings, or of the clevis-pins which fasten the tie rod to the steering arms of the two spindles. New pins and bushings are the only remedy under these circumstances.

CASTOR OIL FOR LUBRICATION

J. W. asks:—Is castor oil the best for the engine of a new auto?

Answer:—No. Castor oil is used practically not at all in lubricating motor car engines, at the present time. There was a time, a number of years ago, when it was used on racing engines and it has been largely used on aviation engines, but mineral oil has completely superseded it. Improvements in methods of refining mineral oil, so as to obtain the required qualities and uniformity of grade, have been largely responsible for the final rejection of castor oil, but the fact that castor oil fouls the whole inside of an engine very quickly indeed and necessitates its being taken down for cleaning is the greatest objection to its use.

Castor oil is not universally obtainable like mineral oil and is expensive and these facts keep it from being used. We advise you to use the best mineral oil obtainable and to renew it frequently.

FORD CARBURETOR ATTACHMENTS

L. A. H. asks:—Please give me information about attachments and devices, which may be applied to the Ford carburetor to make the engine develop more power and speed.

Answer:—There is no end to the devices which are offered, but the effect of most of these is rather problematical and it is very common to see attachments put on and, after trial, discarded in favor of the standard carburetor arrangements, which, after all, answer requirements remarkably well. At any supply house you will find in stock or on order numerous attachments for the Ford carburetor system and it is always possible to test out some of these without much trouble and expense, but experience indicates that the results are likely to be disappointing, for the simple reason that standard equipment gives passable all around results.

Do taxicabs really help to solve the transportation problem in New York?

The question seems to develop out of the recent announcement that a new company, which will employ women drivers exclusively, has entered the field—every male able to drive a car and not otherwise employed having no doubt entered the business long ago.

New York's busy streets are literally littered with taxicabs. Automobiles of all sizes and shapes and irrespective of previous condition of servitude constitute a spectacle appalling to the eye of the traffic expert.

Most of them are yellow, trimmed in black, copying the style of one of the most successful taxi corporations. Truly the human urge to imitate was never more forcibly manifested. Every ancient and decrepit chariot that can still wobble along Broadway is resplendent in black and yellow.

There are imported limousines that have seen better days, landaulets whose convertible tops make them popular in the summer time, and wheezing clattering flivvers that gasp and groan every time the worn-out engine "turns over." It's a strange brood that emanated from those original black and yellow ancestors.

Fancy Petticoats Are Back in Favor Again

LONDON, April 23.—Petticoats of many designs and hues, are fashionable again.

They are not, however, of the rustling and befringed wonders of Victorian days, but are so soft and slender that they can be drawn through the proverbial ring.

For many years, with skirts tight and short, petticoats were out of fashion.

This season they reappear in the glory of silk brocade, flowered crepe-de-chine and jute satins.

Many are in bright colors, have bodies, and might well be mistaken for simple evening frocks.

The main feature seems to be, however, the scalloped hem, which takes the place of the frisky rill of bygone days.

Azulejo tile wall decoration, manufactured by the Moors in Spain, is now made by Spaniards and the old patterns still used.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY WORRIES THE WOLF

"My goodness! Now I have done it!" exclaimed the voice of Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"What have you done?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who was reading The Cabbage Leaf Gazette newspaper in the dining room after breakfast.

"I spilled the kettle full of hot water on the floor," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"I hope you didn't burn your tail!" exclaimed the bunny rabbit gentleman jumping out of his chair.

"No, my tail is all right," said Nurse Jane, but Uncle Wiggily hoped to the kitchen to find out for himself. He saw Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy mopping up a puddle of water from the floor.

"How did it happen? Did the handle come off the kettle? Did you slip and fall? Are you sure you didn't burn yourself? Do you want any help?"

Uncle Wiggily asked all these questions very fast.

"Thank you, I can mop it up myself," answered Nurse Jane, "and I wish you wouldn't worry me, Mr. Longears."

"Worry you?" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, worry me by asking so many questions. If you will kindly go off adventuring, I'll mop up the kitchen and be all right. You only worry me, poking around and asking questions, if you will excuse me for saying so."

"Oh, all right! I'll go adventuring," laughed Uncle Wiggily, and off he hopped over the fields and through the woods. He had not gone very far before, all of a sudden, he heard a rustling noise in the bushes. At first Uncle Wiggily thought it was the wind blowing through the new, tiny green leaves that were just coming out for their first look at morning. But, as the rustling noise continued, the bunny rabbit gentleman began to feel afraid.

And well he might feel afraid, for, a little later, out from under the bushes popped the Woozie Wolf, and after the bunny gentleman the Wolf began to run.

But Uncle Wiggily did not want to be caught, so he also ran and then he hopped as fast as he could hop. But the Wolf could run much faster than Uncle Wiggily could hop, and soon the bad chap had caught Mr. Longears.

"Ah, ha! Now I have you, and now for some fine nibbles!" growled the Wolf.

"Oh, dear!" thought Uncle Wiggily. "I guess my ears are gone this time, surely! But, being a brave rabbit, he did not give up all hope. Suddenly Uncle Wiggily remembered what had happened in his bungalow that morning. 'I know what I'll do,' thought the rabbit. 'I'll worry the Wolf by asking questions, and telling him things he doesn't want to hear, and maybe he'll tell me to go away.'"

No sooner said than done. Uncle Wiggily smiled up at the Wolf and asked:

"Were you waiting for me, Mr. Wolf? Did you get tired? Are you very hungry? When did you eat last? Do you like ice cream cones? Did you ever spill a kettle full of water on your kitchen floor? Have you any—"

"Say, look here! What's all this about?" impatiently asked the Wolf. "You'll drive me crazy with all your questions."

"I wish he would go crazy and let me go home," thought Uncle Wiggily, but he did not speak this thought aloud. Instead he went on with:

TODAY—New York preparing for one of semi-annual "Moving Days." "Yellow Peril" besets pedestrians and clutters up traffic.

TOMORROW—Alice Langellier, Paris, writes of Sarah Bernhardt's funeral.

NEW YORK, April 23—In less than a month residents of Mars doubt will dust off their telescopes and focus their gaze on at earthly speck which we call New York to witness the great semi-annual disturbance.

The terrestrial dust which will blow this part of the earth will be stirred up by nothing more than one of New York's regular once-a-year Moving Days which cur with machine-like precision the first of May and the first of October.

The phenomenon is unique. New Yorkers start packing up their household goods the latter part of April as unobtrusively as ants used to take sulphur and plagues. It is then that the boxes and the great exodus of things to the country or to shore for a few months or to new permanent quarters. But move—somewhere—is inevitable. It is an institution. The "Want Ad" sections of the newspapers bulge with columns that depict with glowing adjectives elegant 8-room flats with "two and three master bedrooms," or "beautifully furnished parlor and kitchenette."

There is much tumult and security, and the pedestrian's hazardous existence is further imperiled by droves of moving vans that bear down on him from every direction.

The October upheaval is similar but is rather more an influx. Third and sophisticated landladies answer endless inquiries and look incredulous when they hear the harassed house hunter's oft-repeated, "We'll let you know if we decide to take it." She knows they won't be back but that they don't like to tell her they "wouldn't live in such a place."

Struggling clerks contract to pay too much rent and further complicate their financial condition by purchasing a vanload of furniture on the installment plan, piling up inevitable disaster.

Newlyweds, who left "young hopefuls" at home, sign the lease, put up the deposit, fearfully mention the offspring—and the deal is off.

References that don't mean anything are exchanged with much gusto—with tenant and landlord each admitting that when it comes to exclusiveness there is little left to be desired on either side.

BURBANK SIGNS LEASE ON NEW WIRE OFFICE

Western Union to Open Up
Branch: Burbank City Schools Increase

At last, after months of effort, Burbank is to have an uptown Western Union office.

Announcement to this effect was made directly from E. C. Vandervilt, district commercial superintendent of the company, who states that he has signed a five-year lease on the vacant room in the Ransey building.

"I hope in due time," says Mr. Vandervilt, "to furnish the city of Burbank with an up-to-date office in every respect and one of which the community should be proud. In return, I expect the full support of the people of Burbank in the matter, as considerable development work must be done in order to place the office on a paying basis."

It is understood that the office will be in operation some time before the end of May, and residents of the city are confident it will receive the support Mr. Vandervilt desires.

Schools Grow, Too

As Burbank grows, its school attendance grows. "There is a direct ratio between increases in number of homes, number of shops, number of factories, and number of school rooms, that must be observed if a city is to prosper," says Superintendent Collins. "If we fail to progress in any direction, in keeping with that ratio, we will be doing ourselves and our city an irreparable injury."

"Hence, more school room in Burbank is necessary. As soon as the school term is over, it is planned to advertise for bids to construct additional rooms at each end of the Abraham Lincoln and Joaquin Miller schools, each of which were designed with the idea of additions being made, thus making alterations an easy task. Later other additions will be made, in the rear, converting the buildings into an E shape."

There are now 130 pupils attending the Miller school and 115 attending the Lincoln school, the superintendent states. In the latter section, forty-two grade children are now obliged to attend the more central schools, who would be able to remain nearer at home, were these proposed rooms operating at present.

Although these two schools above referred to are considered very handsome and are strictly fireproof, it is said that they cost less than the majority of school buildings, running around $4000 a classroom, while many similar institutions go as high as $7000 a classroom.

So fast does Burbank's population grow, Mr. Collins points out, that it is almost impossible to predict what demands next fall's influx of children will put upon the educational facilities. At present there are 1300 children enrolled in the city and 270 in the high school, it is stated.

In the lower grades, so many new children have lately put in an appearance that a new teacher, Mrs. Blanch Freeman Aitken, who lives at 403 Santa Anita avenue, has been employed.

With all the subdivisions in the valley being snapped up by home-builders, it is pointed out that the Lincoln school will in another year or two require a second addition.

"If no other sign of growth were evident in Burbank, the situation as regards the schools would be sign enough," concludes Mr. Collins.

Noteworthy Event Tonight

Scoutmasters and assistants will gather tonight at the Sunset Canyon Country club, for the first annual meeting of the Troop Leaders' Roundtable, Vergado Hills District Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The program will include Rev. T. F. Allen, of Burbank, who will give the invocation. Leonard F. Collins will talk on "The Scoutmaster's Job as I See It," E.

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

CHURCHES of Glendale held solemn, impressive services yesterday, attended by large crowds. Pastors preached on varied topics and special music was provided by soloists and choirs. Herewith are presented brief excerpts from sermons and, too, other church news:

Spirit of God Comes To Fill Men's Lives

Rev. Keith L. Brooks of Eagle Rock spoke to the Presbyterian Men's class at the city hall yesterday morning on the subject of Pentecost.

"Fifty days after the redemption of Israel from Egyptian bondage, Jehovah made a covenant with them," he remarked. "This was the first Pentecost. At that time the law was written on tables of stone. At this Pentecost the Spirit of God upon the living tablets of the heart."

There is no more reason today for expecting the gift of tongues, than the rushing wind and the tongues of fire. "The great event of Pentecost," however, remains. The Spirit of God is here, and is as much with every true believer today as He was with the early church. If the believer will yield to His power, he may know the blessedness of a Spirit-filled life.

"The essential fact of Pentecost was not the wind, the fire, or the tongues, but the filling of the Spirit. The natural result of this will be a desire to give utterance to the great truths of the Gospel. If we have never known this impulse to tell others of His redeeming love, it is evident either that we do not have the Spirit at all or that our lives are very shallow."

Religion Should Make Sympathies Broader

"Our religion should broaden with knowledge and our sympathies," asserted Rev. C. M. Calderwood yesterday morning at the Congregational church.

"If God takes so much into his infinite heart, can we not learn to take into our hearts people of other colors, of other beliefs, of other degrees of intelligence, and other degrees of morality? God and Jesus loved sinners. Should not our ethical standards allow us to do the same?"

"The world will not be saved except by love. Then, our love must be broader. The love of God is broader than the measure of man's mind. Class consciousness cannot be God's consciousness."

"If God loves men of different races, why should we not love others, too? Paul got away from a tribal religion. He said, 'God hath made of one blood all nations.' Jesus took into his love the whole world."

"God is broad in his creation. He has never limited his creation to one kind of things. He has made mountains and valleys, deserts and lakes, calms and storms, frigid and torrid ones, creeping insects, night and day, hideous reptiles and singing birds."

Livingston Occupies Pulpit in M. E. Church

Rev. J. C. Livingston occupied the pulpit at both services yesterday of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church. The subject of the morning sermon was "What We and What We Shall Be." The title of the evening sermon was "Does the Bible Meet Its Purpose?"

Mrs. R. D. Jones of 322 East Dryden street sang Johnston's "Face to Face" in the morning. At the evening service Mrs. C. B. Smith sang the offertory solo.

B. Thomas and Br. E. H. Wilson will give two of the several one-minute talks.

Among the important business to be conducted will be election of officers for the year.

This event will be a noteworthy one, and local Scout chiefs are glad to see Burbank so well represented among the list of prominent speakers from all over the district.

Jeter Services Will Continue This Week

Glendale church people will welcome the announcement, made this morning, that the Jeter evangelistic services are to continue for another week in the tabernacle at the corner of East Broadway and Cedar street.

Those in charge of the services are launching a campaign to interest all the people of the valley in the meetings.

At the meeting last night Eagle Rock, Pasadena, Montrose, Burbank, Glendale and Los Angeles were represented.

At the morning service Rev. Jeter spoke on "The Power That Lifts Men," from the text: "If I be lifted up I will draw all men unto Me, showing the Christ, the Savior."

Mrs. Jeter spoke in the afternoon on "Altruism," emphasizing paying the tithe unto the Lord. At the meeting last night Rev. Jeter spoke on "Your Sins Will Find You Out."

Services during this week will be held at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and 7:30 o'clock at night, with three services on Sunday.

On Tuesday night, Mr. Jeter will model in clay for the first time in Glendale. He also announces that he is to speak on the dope peddlers on Tuesday night.

Mrs. Jeter will hold her Bible conferences at 2:30 o'clock every day.

On Wednesday night Mr. Jeter states he will speak on "How Shall We Escape? or a Mother-in-law and Her Sons-in-law. How She Got Them and What Became of the Whole Outfit."

Value of Personality Is Theme of Sermon

"The Value of Personality, or Why You Are What You Are," was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the First Lutheran church.

"With all the many millions of souls that come into existence, there are never two who have precisely the same gifts or personality," remarked Dr. H. C. Funk.

"So, when I say to you that there is no one else on earth like you, and moreover that there never has been anybody like you, it is not flattery, but the plain truth."

"The value of personality may be noted from a few cases. The personal presence of Napoleon was estimated to be equal to 40,000 on the field of battle. And, when we contemplate the marvelous influence of the One whose name is above every other name, it is evident that the most pronounced element of His power was that of His personality."

"After all, that which we do is typical of what we are. You have sometimes stood in the presence of a perfect stranger and yet seen a thing undefinable told you that he was a man of more than ordinary power and influence. So no one could come into the presence of Jesus without being conscious of the fact that he was in the presence of one who possessed marvelous magnetic power."

Wealth May Lull Soul to Sleep, Says Pastor

The parable of Dives and Lazarus was the basis of the sermon yesterday morning at the Central Christian church.

"It is one of the strange anomalies of life that one can add to his possessions and thereby lessen the range of life," declared Rev. C. A. Cole. "But here is a man, who adds to the circumference of his estate and begins to die at the center. As his wealth expands, his soul contracts."

"I suppose many read this parable with a feeling that it has no application to them. We have an easy way of treating parables that refer to the rich. We can't dispose of Christ's parables that way."

"Many are not rich in money who are rich in other things, more precious probably. Every sort of possession may act upon the spirit like an opiate and put its true sense of duty and obligation to sleep."

"There is an opiate of knowledge. Are we to retire to the cloister with it? How many are ignorant and how few know the priceless treasures in God's Word!"

Children Baptized at Presbyterian Church

Services of especial interest were held yesterday at the Presbyterian church, when children were dedicated to the Lord yesterday morning in the sacrament of baptism.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds at the evening service began a series of sermons under the title of "Who's Who?"

ENJOY DUET

The congregation at the Tropic Presbyterian church yesterday morning enjoyed a duet. "The Lord is My Light" by Buck, which was sung by Miss Etta Mae Arnold of 214 Maryland court and C. R. Baker of 1405 East California avenue. Mrs. Roberta Young of 469 Oak street was the accompanist.

Rev. Edmonds Speaks About 'The Old Paths'

Rev. W. E. Edmonds at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning preached on "The Old Paths," from the words, "Stand ye in the way, and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls." (Jer. 6:16) A resume follows:

"Jeremiah is speaking to his people who have their backs turned to God looking for a new way. Redeemed at infinite cost, they wanted to pull loose from authority. So the prophet faced what moderns face. They who say to God 'We will not,'—then trouble begins and disappointment comes."

"We are living in a wonderful age. Thank God for such a time and opportunity,—there never was such. This hydro-electric age,—every day something more wonderful comes. But there is danger of forgetting the Giver."

"In view of all things new what shall be the message of the pulpit? The new men, what shall be their position—shall they be 'modern'? Where is the latest word? Is a man justified in standing on the old standards? Folks say, 'We must remember we are in a new world today. It comes right up against every man. You leaders, if you fail, the people will fail; they will follow where you lead."

"Has the minister any right to bring a new message in the pulpit? He preaches before God: He ordained for that. I stand on the old paths with the old pillars. Go into the book stores and look at the titles of the religious books,—how many of them are 'The New vs. The Old,' the work of 'Modern Scholarship,' questioning the supernatural. Have we no scholarship on the side? Yes!"

"No man has a right to stand in the pulpit who disbelieves God's word. The time has come when we must stand. The minister who sets aside the Bible, let him go out of the pulpit into business. He has got to believe in Christ, God's only begotten Son, and that man is born in sin. He must hold Christ's death as our substitute, and that those who reject it are eternally lost."

"They tell us, 'The Bible is a good book, but no more inspired than "Temperance,"' and discard the miracles. But we will stand on the faith of our fathers, though the heavens fall. This old world is hungry for bread. Christ said, 'I am the bread of life.' Eat of Me, they shall be satisfied. Without Christ the sting of death is still all there."

"Modernism is good with all the new very best things for the church. But hear me: In God's name don't you tamper with the message! Have everything, but leave the message alone!"

Failure Often Points Out Road to Success

"To many, success comes out of failure," declared Rev. Philip K. Kemp yesterday morning at St. Mark's Episcopal church.

"There is a test, which is passed on all life, which is the pragmatic test of success or failure," he continued. "Does a thing work? Yet we do not judge a man by one performance or a person by one appearance. Many a man makes a false start, yet lives to become a faithful citizen."

"The New Testament is full of instances. It is said that, after the arrest of Jesus, all the disciples forsook Him and fled. Peter himself, who stood high in the regard of Jesus, was guilty of denial. Success out of failure is one of the roads to the higher levels of the Christian life."

We can think of St. Paul as representing to us the failure that came from too great success, as when he persecuted the followers of Christ and learned that true success must come in another direction. We can also think of St. Peter and St. Mark and some other who found the road to success out of failure after they had made a false start. They had not in either case seen the proper goal at the start. We do not have to confine ourselves to the Bible but recall Augustine of Hippo, Francis of Assisi and in our own day General Grant and Phillips Brooks. Each one made a false start, but ended in a glorious finish."

Casa Verdugo Church Hears Dr. Livingston

"What We Are and What We Shall Be" was the theme chosen by Dr. J. C. Livingston for the address at the morning service at the Casa Verdugo Methodist Episcopal church. It centered on the words of a text, "Behold What Manner of Love the Father Hath Bestowed," and was illustrated with world pictures.

For the evening service he chose as the subject of his sermon, "Does the Bible Meet Its Purpose?"

Anthems rendered by the choir were "Love Divine" with soprano solo parts, by Mrs. R. D. Jones; bass solo by Mr. R. D. Jones, and duet by Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cotton.

"Only There" with soprano solo part, by Mrs. R. D. Jones.

A soprano solo, "Face to Face," was sung by Mrs. R. D. Jones at the morning service and offertory; "Come Unto Me," by Mrs. C. B. Smith, at the evening.

TUJUNGA MISSION PLAYERS WILL GIVE SHOW

Vaudeville to Aid Legion
Post and Episcopal Church Planned

Every spring the Mission players come to Tujunga and produce some of their famous plays for the benefit of some local organization. Last year Frederick Warde and Mrs. Tyrone Power, supported by the Mission players, gave a part of the Merchant of Venice at the Garden of the Moon open air auditorium for the benefit of the American Legion.

This is made possible by the courtesy of John S. McGroarty, who makes his home in Tujunga. Mr. McGroarty has given much of his time and talents to furthering local entertainments and pagents and this year plans to give a brilliant production with full costuming by his famous Mission players.

The proceeds this year will go to the American Legion, Post 250, and the Tujunga Episcopal church. The date has been set as May 21.

The program this year will be the best of vaudeville, with high class musical numbers and dancing acts. One of the numbers will be "In London," which is now playing in New York.

Mr. McGroarty announced the plans for this year's entertainment at the last meeting of the Tujunga Valley Realty board, held at the Cozy Cup Inn. Last year the people of Tujunga were asked to assist in the staging of the show, but this will not be the case this year, except so far as the selling of the tickets is concerned.

The reputation of the Mission players is a guarantee of an excellent production and the purpose for which the proceeds are used make their appearance doubly attractive.

The open air auditorium has been enlarged and with additional accommodations for the players an excellent presentation is assured.

As a result of the meeting of the school trustees and teachers, at which all questions relative to the grading and promotion of pupils were threshed out thoroughly, pupils will be promoted at the end of the school year upon recommendation of either their teacher or the principal. If both teacher and principal agree, the promotion will be unqualified, but should there be a difference of opinion in their minds the pupils will be promoted anyway and his or her remaining in the higher grade will depend entirely upon the showing made, which must, of a necessity, be a high one under the circumstances.

The quarterly report cards are marked from daily work and also from examinations given by the teachers and not from any standard educational tests. The markings may be modified when compared with a system of grading now in use in the schools here.

This new system of grading is the result of extended experiments and has been the object of considerable discussion by the parents as to its efficiency.

Last year a condition in the school were not entirely satisfactory and the new system was inaugurated with the hope of remedying this dissatisfaction. Results so far would indicate that the effort has been successful.

The teachers are allowed a variation of 25 per cent in marking papers and upon approval of the principal may make even further concessions or restrictions, as may be deemed compatible with the best interests of the pupil.

The system permits of a certain elasticity and a strict adherence to marks on report cards is not necessary in cases where it is believed that the advancement of the pupil will be of greater benefit than a second year in the same grade. These matters were left largely to the best judgment of the teachers and principal, who base their decisions on a comparison of marks with the standard.

On May 25th an exhibit of the work of the pupils in all grades of the school will be held. The children will enter work in all branches of their studies, including drawing, maps, manuscripts and sewing and the work of the manual training classes. They may also enter their favorite pets if they desire.

The Parent-Teacher association will assist the teachers. Home-made candy will be on sale and refreshments will be served. This exhibit will be of special interest, as the pupils have been doing some very excellent work.

Christ's Present Place Consoles Believer

Rev. H. O. Kringling occupied the pulpit as usual yesterday morning at the Redeemer Evangelical Lutheran church.

"Christ's sitting at the right hand of God is a strong consolation for His believers," he asserted, "because Christ is the head of the church and also the ruler of the universe."

When, at the time of Christ, the then-known world was brought under one rule, that of the Roman Emperor, high roads were built connecting the vast domain, commerce was established and these routes, intermingling of the nations was made comparatively easy, one language, the Greek, was understood by all. These self-same means of communication the apostles used. Along these high roads they traveled, publishing the gospel of the crucified Christ, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life. Thus, they helped build the church."

EAGLE ROCK CHRIST'S SECOND COMING IS TOLD

Adventist Pastor Explains Meaning of Signs in Prophecies

How may we know that the end of the age will come in this generation? was the question propounded and answered by Rev. C. S. Prout before his audience at the Adventist Tabernacle in Eagle Rock, Sunday night. Rev. Prout based his conclusions upon the great prophetic discourse spoken by Christ upon the Mount of Olives, recorded in Matt. 24. This discourse was given by the Savior to his disciples in answer to their question, "What shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world?" he said. A resume follows: "Looking down through the ages that would intervene between his departure from the world and his return. Jesus spoke of the rise of kingdom against kingdom, of the tribulation that would come upon his followers, and of signs in the heavens that would startle them. When all these signs came to pass, he said, those seeing them were to know that he was 'near, even at the doors'; and he added, 'Verily I say unto you, this generation shall not pass till all these things be fulfilled.' Y. 32-34. The first of the signs in the heavens, the speaker said, was the great and notable Dark Day of May 19, 1780, when the sun began to be darkened soon after sunrise, and gave at midday so little light that people could not see to read the aid of candles. And the night following, although the moon was full, was as dark as if every light in the universe had been blotted out. Thus was fulfilled the prediction that 'the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light.' Y. 29. This sign came at the right time, for it was to come 'immediately after the tribulation' spoken of in verses 21, 22, which has reference to the long centuries of the Dark Ages, when many millions of martyrs were put to death. The end of this long period of persecution was reached between the middle and the close of the eighteenth century."

Other Signs Said

"The next great sign was the falling of the stars, which was fulfilled by the sublime and terrifying 'star shower' of the night of Nov. 13, 1833. The illumination caused by this meteoric display was almost equal to noonday, and the thought impressed upon all minds was that the end of the world had come."

"Another sign given by the Savior was, 'This gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations'; and when this work is finished, 'then shall the end come.' Matt. 24:14. This work is almost finished today, and no long time will be required for its completion, the speaker said. The messengers of the gospel, armed with Bibles which have been prepared in every tongue, and with swift means of travel and communication at their command, have penetrated into every corner of the globe. It would be easy possible today by means of radio, to send the gospel message so that it would be heard simultaneously by people in every country on the earth. The generation which sees in all these events the signs foretold by Christ in this discourse, is the generation which will not pass away before Christ's return."

Wednesday evening next, Rev. Prout will consider from a Bible standpoint the question of the outcome of the present condition of strife and turmoil in Europe.

APRIL HEADACHES AND SPRING FEVER

Weekly Health Talk No. 27
By Drs. Eble & Eble, Ds.C.)

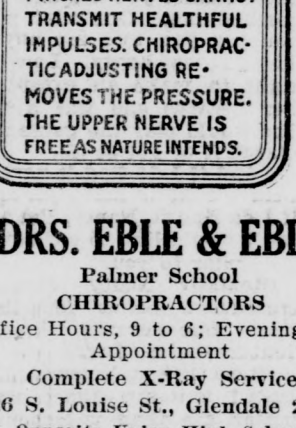

April headaches and spring fever are closely related. Usually when you get rid of one you get rid of the other. There are various kinds of headaches, but the kind that goes along with spring fever (bodily lassitude) is caused by a subnormal liver. The wastes of the body are not removed rapidly enough.

The mental impulses or life energy that travels the nerve lines flow equally to all parts of the body, the liver included, unless there is a displacement of spinal bones interfering with the nerves to the liver. By chiropractic spinal adjustments the chiropractor removes the cause of this interference and the full power and health energy of the liver is restored. Headaches and lassitude disappear.

RID OF HEAD- ACHES

"My wife had sick headaches that kept her in bed for days at a time. We tried all manner of remedies but nothing gave any permanent benefit until my wife took a course of chiropractic spinal adjustments. Her general health was greatly improved and headaches disappeared. I am glad at all times to recommend chiropractic."—Rev. J. H. Barnes, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1314H.

The Grubstake Girl
TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY
Ad Schuster

In all but title Nancy Wier was county treasurer. She had fallen into the job six years before and so well did she fit there was no one who would dislodge her. Nancy had her desk and her big books close beside the window of a ground floor office where she could look out upon the court house lawn.

"Figures, figures!" she often complained. "Here am I cooped up adding columns and sending out notices when what I want is romance." In the distance were the hills in which the Forty-Niners had searched for gold. There were homesteaders there now, prospectors and farmers. Plenty of color and adventure were left for men and those who were brave enough to battle hardships and take a chance.

"If I were only a man," Nancy said, and looked up into the grinning face of Lem Briggs, who stood outside leaning on the sill of the open window.

"Now if you were a man," Lem picked up her words, "what would you be doing?"

"I'd go to the hills, with my little pack of food, and I'd not come back until the streams ran dry or the food gave out. I'd take a chance of finding gold, on getting rich in the real and only way, by taking wealth from the ground and not from my neighbor."

"Bully for you! Sounds like the daughter of old Tom speaking. Wal, that's just what I'm planning to do as soon as I can find someone to grubstake me."

"Grubstake? As bad as that?"

"Sure. I'm broke, if that's what you mean. The salary of a deputy sheriff was never so high, and when I was removed by the will of the voters who licked the cher, I had nothing left but a reputation. I'm going to the hills."

Nancy was thoughtful. This was her chance, as near as she could come to her adventure.

"Lem," she said, "I want you to make me a promise. Let me grubstake you. I have the money saved and you know how I feel about prospecting. It's a business deal, just like anyone else."

"Sure," said Lem, "fifty-fifty. All grubstakes are that way."

It was agreed no one would know who furnished the stake, and Lem set forth on his quest. In time the secret leaked out, and Nancy became known as the "grubstake girl." For five years now, as soon as the snows melted and the streams started to flow, Lem started out on the hunt. He was able, now and then, to salvage enough dust to pay wages so the drain was not too heavy on the girl. With the miner's faith in ultimate success, he told himself he would make Nancy rich. She stuck by her figures and centered her dreams on Lem.

FROCKS OF DARING SIMPLICITY

The printed fabrics—both silk and cotton—vary from curious aboriginal motifs to cheery all-over jardinières, and they are lovely made up into frocks for the new season's wardrobe. The first model pictured has the "hipped in" waist that is growing in favor, and the gathered skirt trimmed with bands of plain materials. The collar is slightly full into the round neck, while the turn-back cuffs vary in width on the upper and lower sides of the flowing sleeves. Medium size requires 4 yards 36-inch figured, and 5/8 yard 36-inch plain material.

One would be tempted to select the smart and serviceable wool crepe for the second model, with its classic lines emphasized with folds of flat silk braid. The narrow belt is of self-material, though a novelty girdle is often introduced when the dress and trimming are in the same color. The sleeves may be flaring or fitted at the wrist with turn-back cuffs. Medium size requires 6 3/4 yards 36-inch material and 8 1/4 yards braid.

First Model: Pictorial Review Dress No. 1506. Sizes, 34 to 40 inches bust, and 16 to 20 years. Price, 35 cents.

Second Model: Dress No. 1510. Sizes, 34 to 48 inches bust. Prices, 35 cents.

One of the most interesting sights in Los Angeles, one that I never tire of looking at, is the panoramic view seen from the Pacific Electric cars as they leave and come into Los Angeles over a trestle-work bridge.

This view I enjoy so much is not the snow-tipped mountains, nor the small backyards of some poor, unpretentious old homes still remaining near the heart of Los Angeles. These are not beautiful to me because they show any wonders of expensive landscape gardening, or any special profusion of blooming flowers and velvety grass. They are beautiful to Wholewheat Muffins—Put into a bowl one-eighth cup of granulated sugar, one unbeaten egg-yolk and one cup of sweet milk; beat well, then add one-half cup of white bread flour mixed and sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder. Also add one cup of wholewheat flour, two tablespoons of melted butter and one egg-white stiffly whipped. Mix well and turn into muffin pans. Bake twenty-five minutes in a hot oven. This recipe makes eight large muffins.

BEAUTY CHATS
EDNA KENT FORBES

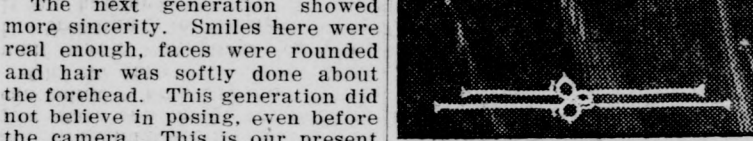

There are fads and fancies in smiles as well as in dresses or hats. At one time it wasn't fashionable to smile at all, so an old lady told me. In her years, which must have been nearly sixty years ago, the so-called spiritual type was all the rage. Apparently one couldn't be spiritual and smile at the same time! The angels smiled, but that must have been a remote, impersonal and very aloof sort of smile, not to be imitated by mere woman. In that day women were all supposed to be angels. I'm afraid by modern standards they must have been rather dull also.

The inevitable reaction to all this was for the woman to come down from her pedestal and become very much of the earth. Anyway she smiled—and she showed her teeth. If you want proof, get out any old photograph album and look through it. Homely, hair, the "spins" in the middle, and a solemn expression went together. Later on, in the twenties, bustles appeared, ringlets, twinkling eyes and flashing smiles. Somewhat insane smiles most of them were, too, carefully fixed and held while the photographer timed his camera.

The next generation showed more sincerity. Smiles here were real enough, faces were rounded and hair was softly done about the forehead. This generation did not believe in posing, even before the camera. This is our present generation of young women.

Of course we've had spasms—the "movie star" smile that came up for a time among very young girls, all curls and dimples and glittering teeth. The "spins" smile, superior, inscrutable—that had a vogue for a season or so when Oriental clothes were being worn. But generally our photographs have shown simply nice young women with clear, honest eyes and good-natured mouths, women who weren't worrying about being "angels" or fragile young things—or anything but being themselves.

AMERICA'S MANIA FOR STANDARDIZATION

Two flappers were walking down the street ahead of me the other day.

They were dressed very much like each other and very much like all the other flappers who passed them on the street.

Their hair was bobbed, their noses were powdered, they wore ear rings (of an Egyptian design), their dresses had broad pleated collars, their hats were small, their stockings were sheer silk, their feet were shod in fancy sandals.

From what I could catch of their conversation, that, too, was in substance and in form about are of permanent value. It may seem far-fetched to think that cleaning up backyards, for instance, would be a means of raising the standards of community and individual health, but I will just state two instances, and you can think of many others.

Old tin cans will harbor stagnant water. Stagnant water is the breeding place for mosquitoes. If you happen to live in a locality where the Anopheles mosquito breeds, this stagnant water will serve as a breeding place for them. It has been proved that the Anopheles mosquitoes can harbor the malarial organisms if they bite a malarial patient, and after a period of incubation they can transfer this malarial organism to anyone they bite. Malaria is a disease which has caused the downfall of nations, so it is nothing to be scoffed at. Even if your locality does not harbor the malarial breeding mosquito, it harbors other types of mosquitoes, and a mosquito by any other name may sting as sweetly.

Decayed and exposed garbage attracts flies. When you think of the flies' habits you will remember how easily flies can transfer diseases.

Oh, yes, indeed! This little question of keeping the backyards clean has a direct relationship to individual and community health.

The broader questions of garbage disposal, sewage, markets, food shops, dairies, etc., are under the control of the municipal authorities. But because their force is necessarily limited, they will never be able to do all that should be done until every person considers himself a part of the service, and reports violations of the laws already existing.

I believe we never will have our cities as clean as they should be until we get some competent women as heads of the cleaning departments. For women for many generations have been the housekeepers, and this work is simply housekeeping on a larger scale.

Just now the question before us is: Shall we join heart and soul in this year's campaign to Clean-Up and Paint-Up? Yes! It is unanimous. Good!

man wears his, he had on a soft hat, a soft tie and gauntlet gloves. These were the only details in this instant almost a mania. When you force a child to do or wear something different from what his fellows are doing or wearing at school, you put him in a position where he probably suffers acutely. To be different, unless you can be dominant, is to be ostracized. And very few of us can be dominant.

As we grow older we grow a little more lenient of differences. We find out perhaps that the boy or girl we did not understand, whom we may even have called a freak at school, was different in the sense of being above, not below, our standard. And we make a few more allowances for variation.

We Need to Change.
But not enough, even then. The fact that the melting pot which will fuse all differences together and make us all of the same material has long been one of our pet American ideals and shows our worship of standardization. We need to change it. To quote the Indian poet again: "It is not a melting pot that is needed in America, but a flower garden where each race may bloom and add its beauty to the commonwealth."

Spinach Salad—Boil two quarts of spinach till very tender, then drain and chop it finely. Mix with three slices of bacon which have been crisply fried then chopped, one tablespoon of butter and one hard-boiled egg, also cut small. Press this mixture into four tumblers (or any cup or glass with a round base) and stand in a cold place to cool and set. Just before meal-time turn these four spinach molds out by their glasses onto crisp lettuce leaves and put a dab of mayonnaise dressing on each.

Liver Boulettes—Put cooked left-over liver through a food chopper, and to one cup of chopped liver add one beaten egg, one tablespoon each of bread crumbs and minced, partly cooked onion, and a pinch of salt. Form this mixture into small, flat cakes with the hands, roll each cake in flour, and fry in bacon fat until brown, turning once so as to brown the other side. Serve hot with tomato catsup.

Vegetable-Stuffed Peppers—Mix together one-half cup of cooked left-over beefs finely diced, one cup of uncooked diced celery, two cups of raw diced apples, and one banana cut very small. This amount of filling will stuff six half peppers. Cut three whole peppers in half, to prepare them for stuffing, remove seeds and stuff, and put them over the fire in cold water to cover, when they come to a boil, let them simmer for five minutes (this takes their too strong taste away), then drain and stuff. "Bobby" McLean, one of America's greatest professional ice skaters, next winter will start out as a promoter of skating on his own property. He has purchased a large tract of land which includes considerable of Magher lake at Saranac, N. Y. A number of the amateur and professional national championships will be awarded to McLean's section.

McLean is the man who two years ago went to Stockholm and was beaten in a series of close races for the world title by Oscar Mathieson, the European title holder. McLean was never satisfied with the results and will send an invitation to Mathieson to come to this country next winter to participate in the American professional races.

Charlie Paddock, the world sprint king, still has it in his head that the A. A. U. has no jurisdiction over college athletes and as a consequence the A. A. U. cannot prevent his going to Europe to participate in international college sports. In this country Paddock's contention is correct, but when it comes to international competition the A. A. U. of any country has everything to say. No amateur athlete can compete in any foreign country unless he bears credentials from the governing body of his own country and in this regard college athletes come under the same ruling. This is the reason the A. A. U. of the U. S. has injected itself into the proposed visit of Paddock to France.

Last year about twenty swimmers tried to negotiate the English channel. The pilgrimage towards the same goal will be a big one this year again. Romeo Maciel of the Argentine Republic is the first to announce his intention to try the swim. He sailed for England last week and will stay round the shores of the Channel cities to get acclimated and train in the waters of the Channel. Maciel places his faith in his ability to swim the channel on the fact that he recently swam for nearly thirty hours in the South American waters. There is this difference in the waters Maciel swam in and the Channel waters: In South America he was swimming in tropical waters, whereas the bugbear of all swimmers across the channel has been the freezing conditions brought about by the cold currents which sweep down from the Arctic regions. Even in the depth of summer the Channel waters will be considerably colder than the temperature that Maciel is used to in South America. The advance of France in the matter of English Rugby football has been one of the outstanding features of the sports world in Europe during the last few years. There was a time when France was the extreme underdog in this sport, but today it is right at the top. Last year France gave the world-famed Welshmen a hard battle and last week they defeated the Irish team 14 to 3, which in itself is a remarkable performance.

U. S. Officer Praises British Legal System

LONDON, April 23.—"The English legal system is one of the things that have most favorably impressed me during my four months' stay in England," said Colonel Joseph McMullen, chairman of the United States Commission for the hearing of war invention claims, on the eve of sailing for America.

"England's legal system is quite all right," he continued; "it has many points which ours lacks and has a great many more short cuts than we have in America."

"The English criminal justice is so manifestly just that it impresses me as creating a very high regard for the law on the part of the public."

"I am going back to the States very satisfied with all I have seen. Socially England is admirable, and I have been treated royally."

Vendor Hides Liquor In Hot Water Bottle

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 23.—A very clever bootlegging device was confiscated by police here when they took in custody John Converse, 20, and Sherman Miller, 57, accused of illegally possessing the alleged "bootlegging tools." The device consisted of two hot water bottles, a funnel, a pasteboard box and fifteen pint bottles. Police claim the hot water bottles, filled with hooch, were suspended by a cord around the neck of one of the bootleggers, under his coat, and that the empty pint bottles were carried in the pasteboard box. When a sale was made it is claimed, the hooch was poured through the funnel into one of the bottles.

FULTON-JOHNSON BOUT IS MAGNET

New Jersey Scrap to Settle Willard's Opponent in New York Battle

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Forrestal News Service
NEW YORK, April 23.—New York's flinty population will take its feet in its hands tonight and move on Jersey City in a body for the privilege of seeing Frederick-Face-Down Fulton prove just once again that he cannot or will not fight. Frederick is to meet Floyd Johnson in a bout scheduled for twelve no-decision rounds, and although suspicion is beginning to take tangible form that Floyd cannot fight either, the crowd is expected to break all indoor records for New Jersey.

Dive for dive, Frederick can drag them in better than any second rounder in the history of pugilism. Not only is the winner advertised as the opponent of Jess Willard for the feature bout of the milk fund show May 12, but chance has come forward with a series of timely controversies that have kept the name of Fulton and Johnson in the headlines for weeks. The boxing commissions of three states have agreed to disagree over the Fulton-Johnson match at one time or another, the New York commission first forbidding the bout, just as though this was its privilege and then granting its sanction when New Jersey threatened to invoke the law.

This would have taken the form of an injunction preventing Johnson from meeting Willard or any one until he fulfilled his Jersey obligations.

Johnson having been finally ironed out, it remained for Massachusetts to add the final touch by suspending Fulton and Johnson for failure to go through with an alleged engagement in Boston. The result is that Fulton, a fictitious joke, is being taken seriously once more, although utterly without reason or logic. Unless he has undergone a major operation since his last appearance here Fulton has no stomach for the fighting game and if Johnson is half the man they say he is, he will win easily. To beat Fulton, all a big man needs is a pair of hands and the sense to go in and fight from the opening bell. Frederick does not care to be crowded and will pass out peacefully before anyone who follows this system. On the other hand he will murder the man who is silly enough to stand off and attempt to box with him. We take it that Johnson, whatever else he may be, is not that kind of a fathead.

BOX SCORE

Wallops Van Nuy's

Glendale came back from Van Nuy's yesterday with a 10 to 5 win over the semi-professional champions of Southern California, in a game that was a big surprise to everyone, but the biggest surprise of all to the Van Nuy's nine.

It was the second game of Glendale's season in the San Fernando Valley league, and the second consecutive win. Today Manager Walt Heidler has good reason to be proud of the way his boys showed up against the championship material they clashed with on Sunday.

The offerings of Metten, the much touted Van Nuy's hurler, were smashed all over the lot, the Glendale team making the Van Nuy's fans think a hailstorm had struck the town. While "Slim" Harris hurled a no-hit game for Glendale up to the fourth inning, when he allowed four runs and was relieved by Heidler who wound up with only one run more from the opposition.

Elmer Muff, Glendale's young star sacker, was the big star of the game, knocking a home run, a two-base hit, a single and a fine sacrifice bunt, in four trips to the platter. Acosta and Shriver also showed some real stick work, getting in three good wallops each.

As a whole the Glendale team played wonderful ball, and if that is the kind they are going to continue playing, it looks like a pennant in the Glendale camp at the end of the season. Manager Heidler and a big crowd of enthusiastic fans agree.

K. C. Squad Wins

Glendale's K. C.'s outclassed and outscored their opponents, the L. A. Beavers, at the Downey playground yesterday afternoon, coming out well on top of the shuffle, the final tally being 10 to 4 in their favor.

Seiser, hurling for the Knights, allowed the Beavers but four scattered hits, striking out thirteen of the opposition.

The White Sox got out of the maiden class by winning, 4 to 3, over the Browns, a squeeze play in the eighth inning producing the winning run. It was shocker's second defeat this season.

In another of those five-or-no-count games the Pirates fell upon four Red pitchers to win, 15 to 9.

Woe is latbush! The Giants again made merry at the expense of the Dodgers, winning 10 to 0. It was the second straight shut-out scored against the Dodgers by the Giants.

A great pitchers' battle between Coveleskie and Collins came to an end in the tenth inning, when Jones' wild throw allowed Coveleskie to score the only run of the game. The victory gave the Indians temporary possession of first place.

OAKLAND AGENCY IS OPENED HERE

Modern Garage is Equipped to Handle Repairs On Various Cars

The Oakland Automobile agency, which has been opened at 219 West Colorado street, by H. W. Fredman, is already meeting with excellent prospects of success and it is predicted by Mr. Fredman that the extensive line of late models manufactured by the Oakland company will find a ready welcome among motorists of the Glendale territory. Mr. Fredman now has several models on display in his new establishment and he has been assured of steady shipments in sufficient quantity to meet all the needs of his customers in this field.

In connection with the agency, Harry T. Moore is conducting a garage in the rear of the building, carrying in stock parts for the Oakland, Oldsmobile and the Scripps-Booth cars and giving service on all makes of automobiles. The operations of this department will be confined solely to garage and service work, and no attempt will be made to install gasoline pumps, as Mr. Moore prefers to specialize on the mechanical work, with which he is intimately familiar and in which he has had years of experience.

New Depot Proposal Is Considered by S. P.

A conference that was held Saturday between the depot committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and officials of the Southern Pacific company in Los Angeles resulted in the latter agreeing to submit to the heads of the company in San Francisco a proposal that Railroad street from Los Feliz boulevard be opened to the railroad's property, in order to permit easy access to the new depot which is to be erected shortly. The property involved is part of that which the road has been reserving against the time when it will be necessary to lay additional tracks here.

It will also be necessary, it is stated, to carry out some alterations on Eulalia street and to initiate condemnation proceedings against one piece of property lying adjacent to the proposed extension of Railroad street.

No decision will be announced on the subject until a report has been received from the head offices of the road in San Francisco.

Chance to Repent Is Offered Every Sinner

"Every people have their national sin," declared Dr. James S. Winnard yesterday morning at the Tropic Presbyterian church. "That of Israel was idolatry," he continued. "And, strangely enough, it was the sin from which they should have been, for peculiar reasons, the most free. And because they would not turn from idolatry to serve the living and true God, God said 'they are joined to idols, let them alone.'"

"To every person living a life of sin God gives the opportunity of repentance. There is a possibility of sinning away this day of grace and incurring divine displeasure instead of divine grace. To be let alone of man is bad enough but to be left alone of God is Hell. What a future is before such a one. It is like going through life with some hideous deformity, easily removable in its early stages but allowed to go on until not only cannot be removed but at the same time causes all men to shun us. Oh, the horror of it all; the needlessness of it all!"

Five Persons Rescued From Disabled Plane

NEW YORK, April 23.—Four men and a woman were rescued early today from a disabled seaplane tossed for hours twenty miles off Coney Island.

One of the survivors, Robert L. Dewey, second cousin of the late Admiral Dewey, swam ashore after the plane had floated to within a mile of the beach and reported the predicament of his companions.

Three other survivors of a second plane, also owned by Dewey, were taken off by coast guards after it became disabled eighteen miles off Asbury Park, N. J., last night, and floated within a hundred yards of the shore.

Paris S. P. C. A. Returns Lost Dogs to Owners

PARIS, April 23.—"I've lost my doggie," but the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will send him back to me because he is wearing a little bronze tag attached to his collar.

Every dog wearing this tag of the society will henceforth be taken from the pound and sent to the headquarters of the society, where it can be claimed by its owner.

Truitt's Advertisement Strikes Artistic Note

One of the most artistic additions to business desks in Glendale is the attractive wooden standard with metallic decoration bearing the name of W. L. Truitt, builder and dealer in real estate, loans and insurance of 812 South Brand boulevard.

The wooden standard bears a metal plate showing a wonderful view of Glendale and the surrounding valley. Under this view is a poem on California, written by Mr. Truitt, who is an ardent booster for the Golden West.

MONTROSE IDEAL SITE FOR OUT DOOR PLAYS

Natural Theatre at Sparr Heights Is Sought For Glendale

Glendale possesses one of the finest natural amphitheatres in the United States.

R. E. Tucker, local director of Community Service, a few days ago visited this bowl, which is located in the south corner of Sparr Heights, and became enthusiastic over its possibilities.

"Marvelous!" he exclaimed. "It is simply superb!"

Old Mother Nature was thoughtful in providing this bowl. Its eastern side rises to a height of about fifty feet at a slope of about 10 per cent, and with very little grading could be made the foundation for an immense natural grandstand which would seat at least 10,000 people.

The western wall of the bowl is the eastern side of the hill, which is now well covered with trees and extremely picturesque in its beauty. No more artistic background could be imagined for any stage setting.

Ideal Pageant Site

The floor of the bowl, which is now planted to grapevines, is several acres in extent. It is more open at the south than the north end, and from this direction a whole troop of cavalry—or, indeed, a whole mounted regiment—could enter it with ease. The stage itself is so spacious that it could accommodate 5,000 actors without the slightest crowding. It is of ideal size for any pageant.

The acoustics were tested carefully by Mr. Tucker and he found that a voice would carry to the farthest line of the stage to the extreme top of the grandstand without the slightest trouble. A voice carried the opposite direction with equal ease. It was not necessary to shout and an ordinary speaking-voice was sufficient.

At the present time a dirt road leads into this bowl, although the portion within it is somewhat rough. This road turns to the south at the eastern slope of the hills. It is reached from the road which turns west off Verdugo road a short distance south of the new Community Center.

Although this property is quite valuable, an attempt is to be made to induce the Barnum & Walters Realty Company, which has already given the Community Building, to donate this bowl to the city of Glendale.

Radio Treatment Aids Stricken Sea Captain

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Captain Edward Burgis, master of the freighter Elgrillo, was resting comfortably in a local hospital today with good prospects of recovery from an acute attack of appendicitis following radio treatment at sea and a thrilling dash of his steamer bound for the Orient back to this port. The captain was stricken three days ago and since that time has been under radio treatment from United States marine hospital surgeon. Meanwhile the vessel turned about and arrived last night in time for an operation to save Burgis' life.

CALL FIRE DEPT.

A short-circuit underneath a electric car at Arden Junction this morning at 1:25 a. m. called out truck No. 5 from Station No. 1. Captain "John" Myers was accompanied by other fire fighters. There was damage.

Rich Timber Lands Laid Waste by Fire

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Several thousand acres of valuable timber land in Prince George and Montgomery counties, Maryland, a few miles from Washington, have been laid waste by forest fires which started Sunday and which were still raging this morning.

Scores of houses, barns and other buildings in the path of the flames including those on the government's demonstration farm near Beltsville, have been destroyed, according to advices reaching here. No casualties have been reported.

Harrower Team Is Winner Over Troops

The Harrower Laboratory nine triumphed against the 160th Infantry, Los Angeles, in their game Sunday afternoon, on the Park and San Fernando grounds, by the comfortable margin of 12 to 5.

Buck Smith occupied the mound for the Scientists, Phillips hurrying for the Soldiers.

The score was 11 to 0 at the end of the fifth, but a group of errors let in several runs for the visitors in the sixth. After that, however, the support stiffened, and the invaders never had a chance after that.

EAGLE ROCK DISMISS CASE ON LEGAL AMBIGUITY

Judge Beats Speed Charge In Eagle Rock Court On Fine Point

Taking a look at the state motor vehicle act proved to be of financial benefit to George N. Hurd, former judge of the first instance of the Philippine Islands, who appeared in court at Eagle Rock Saturday to answer to a charge of exceeding the fifteen mile speed limit.

The section which Mr. Hurd read was that pertaining to the speed to be allowed when the motorist is approaching an intersection, where the view is obstructed. He showed Judge Harold I. Cruzan that he had the motor vehicle act "both coming and going."

"I have been up to Eagle Rock road and Colorado boulevard this morning, your honor," the defendant stated. "I find that the view is not obstructed when approaching the intersection, and such being the case, the speed limit would be thirty miles an hour, would it not?"

Judge Cruzan agreed that it would, but stated that this particular intersection seems to be in a rather strategic position, as, when approaching the intersection, the motorist can see several hundred feet, due to the fact that the approach is made from an elevation, but that when he comes directly upon the intersection, his view is obstructed. The clause of the state motor vehicle act which states that the speed limit is fifteen miles when approaching an intersection or railroad crossing where the view is obstructed was termed as one of the "ambiguities" of the act by the judge, who said he would honor the opinion of the defendant, whose legal knowledge he recognized, by dismissing the case.

Mr. Hurd stated that he had never violated a law, to his knowledge, and that it was his aim to keep off the "black list" as much as possible. Judge Cruzan stated that he expected that the motor vehicle department of the state would take up this clause for revision next summer, when other changes of a minor nature are contemplated.

Order Dumping Stopped

Following the intervention on the part of the Eagle Rock street department, in response to a protest from the Myers Land Company, the eastern extremity of Sycamore may not be used as a dumping ground by residents of the county.

The Myers Land Company enlisted the aid of the Eagle Rock Avenue Improvement Association in putting a stop to the practice of the county residents of using their property on East Sycamore as a dumping ground. A representative of the association reported the matter to the city hall, and steps have been taken to place signs on the property, warning that dumping is not allowed.

Who shall be queen of the May?

This question is up to the owner of the sweet tooth, the American Legion Auxiliary has decided, and with this decision, comes the plan for a candy sale to be conducted April 27 and 28, and the candidate who sells the most of the sweet morsels to be offered for sale, will receive the crown.

Proceeds from the candy sale will go to enrich the treasury of the auxiliary, and will be used in various phases of the work of the organization, while lies largely in aiding the families of disabled war veterans.

All candidates for May queen are to be employed selling candy, which is to be made by the members of the Women's Auxiliary and offered for sale at the safety zone, at the intersection of Central Avenue and Colorado boulevard.

Both candidates and buyers are agreed upon one point, and that is that it will be sweet to be queen of the May. The candidates are allowed to solicit as much trade as possible, and all will be present at the sale, Friday afternoon and Saturday afternoon and night, to entice the passers-by to buy.

Lumber Company Fire Loss Totals $300,000

ST. HELENS, Ore., April 23.—Fire early today completely destroyed the plant of the Columbia County Lumber company here, at a loss estimated at $300,000. The flames, fanned by a breeze from the Columbia river, quickly spread throughout the lumber yard.

Surrounding properties were seriously threatened and for a time dynamiting was contemplated to prevent the rapid progress of the fire. A fire boat from Portland aided materially in the checking of the flames. Two shifts of 175 men were employed by the company. The cause of the fire is undetermined.

Children Killed In Week-End Accidents

PORTLAND, Ore., April 23.—Two children were killed and a dozen or more persons injured in a series of accidents over the week-end in Portland. Vivian Aubin, year and a half old child, died early today from a fractured skull. She fell under an electric train last night. Frank Tillitson, 11, was instantly killed Sunday when he fell while repairing a radio aerial. Aletha Cage, 4, is the most seriously hurt of those suffering from automobile accident injuries. She has a fractured skull and may die.

Fear Ship With Crew Lost Off West Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Alarm was expressed today in marine circles for the four-masted barkentine Alva and her crew of thirty-five men and one woman, the wife of Captain Charles Sexton, the vessel not having been heard from for 62 days. She left San Pedro for Bellingham, Wash., two months ago and although her ordinary passage time is 15 days, she so far has not made port and has not been sighted, according to marine records.

INDIAN PREACHES

Rev. Albert T. Freeman, a full-blooded Indian student from the University of Southern California, spoke yesterday morning at the Central Avenue Methodist church and at the evening service at the First Methodist church.

5th of May, the American Legion auxiliary is presenting a May festival, at which twelve pretty girls attired in springlike costumes, will give the Maypole dance at the Women's Club house, before hundreds of guests, who are expected to attend the event.

The evening offers a rare treat, when it is considered that it isn't every day that both old folks and young can step onto the magic carpet, and be transported into the world of make-believe, but that is exactly what is going to happen at this gala affair. There will be four cunning little girls of the ages of five and six years, to lead the procession. Then will come the May queen, in her robes of splendor, followed by a tiny Mr. Somebody whose name has not yet been made public, carrying the wonderful crown upon a satin pillow. After the queen has been crowned, the twelve high school girls will give the Maypole dance, accompanied by the "light fantastic" by way of music.

Following the crowning of the May queen, the public will dance and enjoy a social evening, with the members of the Auxiliary doing honors as hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Wilson, well known residents of Eagle Rock are mourning the death of Mrs. Wilson's mother, Mrs. W. T. Banks, of Long Beach, who passed away Saturday night, due to the effects of a paralytic stroke.

Mrs. Banks, who was 60 years of age, suffered a severe stroke of paralysis a week ago, the third, and most acute, which she experienced. Her condition grew more serious last week, so that Mrs. Wilson was called to her bedside, and was present when her mother died. Funeral arrangements are being made, and burial will probably take place at Long Beach, where Mrs. Banks had made her home for a number of years.
